Police and Fire Appointments Not Determined Upon

Mayor Graves Still Undecided, He Tells Star
Thursday

A SPECIAL SESSION

Announcement May Be Made to City Council
Thursday Night

Mayor Albert Graves said Thursday noon that he was undecided on the matter of police appointments when interviewed by The Star.

The appointment of a chief of police, members of his force and the naming of a chief of the fire department, will probably be announced at a special meeting of city council Thursday night, Mayor Graves indicated.

"Either Thursday night or probably Friday," the mayor was quoted as saying.

"I'm anxious that the appointments be made public as quickly as possible. So far I am undecided on who will be chief of police.

"Appointments of his force will depend quite a bit upon himself, with the approval of the mayor and council," Mr. Graves concluded.

General Johnson Defends the NRA

Declares It Is "First Intelligent Attempt to Control Monopoly"

WASHINGTON—(AP)—In blunt words Hugh E. Johnson told the congress Thursday that the NRA "is the first intelligent attempt" by government to curb monopoly and the concentration of industry.

He admitted errors in the NRA but contended they were mistakes in his own administration of the recovery unit—not in the NRA law.

He argued that abandoning the NRA would be "like burning down your house to get rid of a few rats in the attic."

Holy Thursday Is Observed at Rome

Pope Pius Gratified at Removal for Time of Threat of War

ROME, Italy—(AP)—Thousands of devout Romans and pilgrims saw a part of a strange sight to have been fitted in the Savior's lips when dying on the crucifixion cross as they observed the religious celebration of Holy Thursday.

Pope Pius entered the annual mourning period with a prayer of gratification on his lips. He felt justified in declaring the war clouds recently hovering over Europe to be at least temporarily dispelled.

"Sizzling" Note Is Hurlled at League by Angry Germany

Hitler Hands British Ambassador Angry Reply to "Condemnation"

DOOR SLAMS SHUT

All Talk of Germany's Return to League Membership Is Ended

BERLIN, Germany—(AP)—A British embassy spokesman revealed Thursday that Hitler had sent Great Britain a diplomatic note which he described as "a sizzler," although declining to reveal its exact contents.

The note, clothed in the strongest possible language, was relayed to Sir Eric Phipps, British ambassador, from Hitler through Konstantin von Neurath, German foreign minister.

The central argument expressed in the note was said to be that Wednesday's action by the League of Nations council positively means the end of any talk of Germany returning to the League.

BERLIN, Germany—German officials Wednesday night said that Geneva's rebuke to Adolf Hitler's military program seriously impairs hopes of getting Germany into any peace pact.

Philip F. La Follette advocated the law when he was governor four years ago, and he is now back in office to watch the start of the experiment.

No sooner was the Wisconsin law well on its way than President Roosevelt well called to Washington Dr. E. S. Witte to draft the national job insurance plan.

Witte had drafted, in cooperation with Prof. John R. Commons of the University of Wisconsin, much of the Wisconsin act.

A staff of nearly 30 is now organized to enforce the Wisconsin experiment. Witte remains in close touch with the department.

Thus far, administration of the Wisconsin unemployment compensation law has been confined almost entirely to collection of contributions from employers.

They have accepted the law with surprisingly little opposition.

Protests Are All

At the outset a few employers made payments under protest, but neither these employers nor any others have taken steps to contest validity of the act.

The majority of the Wisconsin employers doubtless are not enthusiastic about the law, but practically without exception they feel that it is better than any other unemployment insurance law that would probably be passed.

There is reason to believe that some employers have not paid the contributions due from them," declares Witte. "There are relatively few such, however, and they are mainly those on the verge of bankruptcy."

"What appears to have happened is that in a few cases employers who have laid off men for other reasons have stated that they were doing so because of the unemployment compensation act. On the whole, however, such allegations have arisen and it is generally conceded by employers that the law has not had detrimental effect."

"This applies not only to opportunities for employment, but also to competition in interstate markets. Some employers feel that the 2 per cent contribution represents an additional cost which puts them at a disadvantage with employers in other states. Under the Wisconsin law, employers may be exempted from making contributions to the state fund if they voluntarily set up a fund of their own with at least as extensive and as liberal benefits as provided by the state law, subject to approval of the industrial commission."

Governor Philip LaFollette Back in Office to Watch Program

MADISON, Wis.—(NEA)—While congress marks time on the national job insurance program demanded by President Roosevelt, Wisconsin is getting ready to begin enjoying the benefits of its own job insurance law.

It is the only state to have such a law, which went into effect July 1, 1934, and which has already built up reserves of almost $6,000,000 to back the first benefit payments July 1 of this year.

A quarter million employees of 3000 employers then will get the protection afforded by this pioneer law.

Philip F. La Follette advocated the law when he was governor four years ago, and he is now back in office to watch the start of the experiment.

12 Army Airplanes Land in This City

Air Fleet From Shreveport Maneuvers Above Hope, Pays Brief Visit

A fleet of army pursuit planes, headed by Lieutenant Peary of the municipal airport here Thursday morning for a short stay.

The fleet, consisting of 12 single motor biplanes, came in from the southwest, maneuvered about in several formations, and descended upon the airport.

Their stay here was brief. After landing the planes lined up on the field and then took off in pairs, circled back over the city in formations, and flew to Texarkana.

Landing here was believed to have been a requirement of the army aviators in their cross-country flight from Shreveport to southwest Arkansas.

Lieutenant Peary, so a spectator told The Star, inquired as to when the watermelons would be getting ripe. He also had a word of praise for the airport here.

Government Cars Must Pay Toll

Relief Officials' Machines Not Exempt From Bridge Toll

LITTLE ROCK—Trucks and other motor vehicles owned and operated by the EPA are not exempt from payment of tolls for crossing state-owned toll bridges, the attorney general's office advised Revenue Commissioner Earl R. Wiseman Wednesday.

In answering the inquiry from the revenue commissioner, Assistant Attorney General Thomas Fitzhugh held that no vehicle, whether owned by a state or federal agency, is exempt from the payment of tolls, unless there has been an express exemption by statute, or by a regulation of the Revenue Department. The only vehicles expressly exempted by law are those of the Arkansas National Guard and members of the United States military organizations, such as army, navy and marine corps.

Commissioner Wiseman said after receiving the opinion that confusion had resulted from previous opinions and that hereafter tolls must be paid for all vehicles except those specifically exempted by law.

In an opinion to Miss Bessie Jefferson, treasurer of Stone county, Assistant Attorney General Guy E. Williams, explained the law and court decisions relating to payment of tolls.

"Recently I have been engaged in writing a life of Calvin Coolidge," he said, "and I know that before his death he, too, threw up his hands. He came to feel that he was walking on quicksand in his psychology of life."

Editor White Asserts Late President Was Shaken in His Beliefs

NEW YORK—(AP)—William Allen White said Wednesday that the late Calvin Coolidge began to doubt his own psychology of life before he died.

The Kansas editor, speaking on a trip before the annual meeting of the American Provident Society, confessed that all he thought he knew about savings and investment "seems to have gone."

"Recently I have been engaged in writing a life of Calvin Coolidge," he said, "and I know that before his death he, too, threw up his hands. He came to feel that he was walking on quicksand in his psychology of life."

White said the machine has "done something irreparable to us," adding, "but it won't break down the old principles."

Negro Arrested in Robbery of Store

Willie Neal, 19, Charged With Thefts From Boswell & Higgason

Willie Neal, 19-year-old negro youth and reputed police character, was arrested by Hope officers Thursday morning on suspicion of robbing Boswell & Higgason Men's Clothing store Wednesday night of merchandise valued at between $25 and $30.

The negro was picked up in the north end of town. Chief of Police Clarence Baker said Neal was unable to furnish an adequate alibi as to his whereabouts Wednesday night. Fingerprints found on the skylight of the Boswell & Higgason store were being compared with those of Neal.

Descending from the skylight by a small rope the robber ransacked the building, taking a suit of clothes, shirts, socks, underwear, a sport belt and a pair of "jelly-bean" suspenders. Approximately $2 in change was missing from the cash drawer.

The robber left through a rear door. While in the building the prowler went through a rack of men's suits, apparently selecting one that fitted best.

A large suitcase was also missing, believed to have been used by the robber in taking away the loot.

The robbery Wednesday night was the second in the past three weeks. The store was entered the first time by cutting a screen and unbolting a rear door. At that time nothing was found missing, the robber apparently having been frightened away before obtaining any loot.

Louisiana Refuses to Sue for Peace

Resolution Deploping Political Quarrel Is Voted Down

BATON ROUGE, La.—(AP)—The Louisiana senate Wednesday night, after referring Senator Huey P. Long's newest "dictator" measures to the finance committee, voted down a resolution offered by Senator J. J. Wingrave asking the federal government not to withdraw Public Relief Administration relief from Louisiana because of a "political quarrel."

On motion of Senator Coleman Lindsey, administration floor leader, the resolution was tabled, 23 to 7.

Senator Wingrave said he learned from press reports that there was a possibility the government might withdraw the relief from Louisiana because of Senator Long's battle with the national administration.

"I want this to go to the president and secretary of the Interior asking them not to inflict any punishment on the people of Louisiana because of this political quarrel," Wingrave said.

"Whether the government withdraws the funds from Louisiana is its own business," replied Senator Lindsey. "I'm not going to ask them to change their method of business."

Available to All Over 65 in State Voting Equal Amount Pension

WASHINGTON—(P)—The house Thursday rejected two major attempts to modify the administration's social security bill—one, the Townsend old-age pension plan; and the other, the Greenway proposal to increase from $15 to $20 the monthly proposed federal contribution to old-age pensions. The Townsend plan lost 206 to 56, and the Greenway amendment lost 165 to 87.

After the rejection of the Townsend plan Representative Scrugham, Nevada Democrat, asked the house to approve an amendment appropriating 250 million dollars for persons over 60.

The Frazier-Lemke farm mortgage refinancing bill, which administration leaders opposed, was approved without a record vote by the house agriculture committee.

Senator Borah introduced in the senate Thursday a bill to prohibit any new public or private loans to foreign governments except those on the American continent, asserting that any money loaned to Europe "is in aid of war."

The United States Thursday sent a note to the Japanese government reiterating its protest against the Manchukuo oil monopoly as a violation of existing treaty provisions and "in conflict with the 'open door' policy in the Far East."

WASHINGTON—(P)—Virtually all hope of inserting broad liberalizing amendments in the administration's social security bill was abandoned Wednesday night by advocates of the four outstanding proposed substitutes.

The confidence of administration leaders was shown when they made final arrangements to permit direct votes on the substitutes. The votes, leaders said, would eliminate the opposition proposals as threats for the remainder of the session.

Provision of Plans

The four substitutes are:

1. The Townsend-McGroarty plan, which would levy a two per cent tax on all financial transactions for payment of up to $200 a month to all persons over 60.

2. The Greenway plan, which would levy the same taxes as the Townsend plan, but limit the federal government's pension contribution to $25 a month.

3. The Lundeen plan, under which each aged, unemployed, or helpless person would be paid a minimum of $10 a week plus $3 for each dependent.

4. The Rogers-Pope plan, which would put a 1½ per cent tax on the incomes of all persons between 21 and 45 years of age for disbursement in the form of $30 a month federal pensions.

YOUR HEALTH

Editor, Journal of the American Medical Association, and of Hygiene, the Health Magazine

Real Reasons Behind Nervous Breakdown

You can't laugh off a nervous breakdown, your doctor will tell you. And if you want to know why Dr. Morris Fishbein, author of The Star's daily column on health has written a series of three articles explaining science's latest discoveries on this strange malady. This is the first article.

If you have never known the feeling of being nervous or mentally ill, and you always feel adequate to every situation in which you find yourself you may discover it is difficult to understand the significance of the condition called "nervous breakdown."

In fact, you may even argue with the person who suffers with this condition and may try to make him feel that it is all his own fault. You may say if he will only "buck up" or just think right, he will feel right.

Actually, however, the combination of physical and mental circumstances is such that the person with the nervous breakdown simply cannot get his powers together for the purpose of "bucking up" and thinking right.

Today we know that development of such situation demands a complete study of the physical condition of the person concerned, of his personality, of the environment in which he lives, and of the people who surround him.

A nervous breakdown represents a variety of conditions. It may be just a case in which the person is unable to sleep, gets tired easily, and is unable to concentrate.

Next it may be a form of hysteria, with inability to perform various functions, simply because the person concerned is convinced in his own mind that he cannot do so.

Third, it may be a nervous condition in which anxiety is the chief symptom, with fear, palpitations of the heart, restlessness, and a lack of power to make decisions.

Beyond these forms of nervous conditions, there are various forms of insanity and, finally, actual changes in the nervous system, with paralysis, inflammation of the brain, and such disorders.

The average man who talks about nervous breakdown usually means the conditions first described, in which loss of sleep, easy fatigue, inability to concentrate, and lack of power to make decisions are the most significant factors.

Nervous breakdowns are not limited altogether to high-powered business men, to clubwomen under severe strains with activities, to social leaders, or to statesmen. A child in school may have a nervous breakdown, as may also a retired millionaire with nothing to do.

The lazy, delicate, and refined person who enjoys poor health or the eccentric musical genius, as well as the tramp, the drunkard, or the drug addict, may be victims of nervous breakdown.

Ordinarily all these cases represent what one leading authority in diseases of the mind has called "human nature working under difficulties."

Conan Doyle, Edgar Allan Poe and all the other geniuses of the detective story never succeeded in inventing anything half so amazing as the real-life experiences of the grand-daddy of all sleuths—the famous French detective, Vidocq.

This man, who rose to the surface under Napoleon and retired in the 1830's, or thereabouts, occupied his declining years by writing his memoirs. His contemporaries suspected that he was kidding them, but it is now agreed that for the most part he told the truth; and these memoirs, translated and edited by Edwin Gill Rich, are now published in America under the title, "Vidocq: The Personal Memoirs of the First Great Detective."

BEGIN HERE TODAY

MILICENT GRAYES, secretary to GEORGE DRINGOLD, finds her employer in his office, denials to help her. He sends her to a beauty shop where she is transformed into a brunette, then takes her home, introducing her as his secretary. She meets Hap's son, NORMAN, his stepson, ROBERT CAINE, MRS. HAPPI, and VERA DUCHENE, Mrs. Hap's maid.

That night a note under her door informs Millicent, "The woman in black, emine is here." Millicent sees the woman, tries to follow, but loses her. Millicent goes to the chauffeur's quarters. The chauffeur is dead from a bullet wound.

Next morning SERGEANT MAHONEY takes charge of the case. Over the telephone MRS. HAPPI learns that her husband has been kidnapped. She is warned not to turn the police.

Norman begs Millicent to tell him what she knows of the whole affair. She does. Together they determine to solve the mystery.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY CHAPTER XXXI

NORMAN HAPPI emerged from the sixth retail liquor store he had covered. Millicent looked at his face, knew that he had discovered something. "You've found it?" she asked when he had approached the car.

"I think so," he told her. "This place is open until 3 o'clock in the morning. A little after two a woman bought a pint bottle of whiskey and demanded that particular brand."

"A woman!" Millicent exclaimed. "Yes," he said. "What did she look like?"

"I want you to come in and talk with the man," Norman said. "You'd be more apt to get the stuff we want in a description—you know, clothes and everything."

His manner was that of one struggling against tense excitement and Millicent said, "Look here, you've found out something already."

He nodded. "What is it?" "Just this," he said. "She wore a black emine coat."

Millicent scrambled out of the car, quivering with nervous tension. "Honestly," she asked, "was it the woman in the black emine coat?"

"Steady," he cautioned. "Don't get excited. It was a woman in a black emine coat."

Millicent felt his hand on her elbow steadying her as she crossed the sidewalk and entered the swinging door of the retail liquor store.

A man well past middle age, with a white mustache, surveyed her with tired, expressionless eyes.

"We want to talk with you a little more about that whisky sale," Norman said.

The man surveyed the bottles stacked upon his counter with a critical eye, picked up one of them, held it to the light, dusted it with a cloth and nodded.

Norman looked significantly at Millicent, and Millicent said, "You saw her clearly?" "Oh, yes."

MILICENT'S voice betrayed her excitement. "I mean you could see her face? She didn't keep her collar turned up so it concealed her face?" "No, ma'am. But why all the excitement? You aren't a detective, are you?" "Mercy, no," she said. "Just trying to get some information."

He nodded, rearranged some of the bottles on the counter, said wearily, "What information?" "Was she young or old?"

He looked at her. "Ma'am, I don't know. I'm 68 myself and to me women divide themselves into three classes. There's the young ones that are full of giggles and awkwardness. Then there's the smooth, pretty ones that range anywhere from 20 to 50. And then there's the women that don't care anything about being beautiful, and look about my age."

I know some of them are beautiful when they're 60 and some look old when they're 40, but to a man who's lived as long as I have as long as a woman's smooth and pretty she's young and I can't tell the age."

"But surely you can tell whether a woman is 20 or 35." "Well, perhaps I could tell that. This woman wasn't 20. Probably she was around 30, but I can't tell. She was one of the smooth kind."

"Did she drive up?" "There was someone waiting for her in a car. She drove up with him."

"A man?" Millicent asked. "Yeah, a man."

"What kind of a car was he driving?" "I can't tell you that—wait a minute, maybe I can, too. They transferred a suitcase from the back seat to a baggage compartment in the back, come to think of it. I guess it was a black sedan. It had a little compartment for baggage back of the spare tire. I remember the man was transferring this suitcase from the inside of the sedan to the baggage compartment while she was getting the whisky."

"Would you know this woman if you saw her again?" "Sure I would. She was pretty."

"What kind of hat was she wearing?" " . . .

"SOME kind of a small hat that I didn't have any brim. The emine coat had a big collar and she kept the collar turned up. There wasn't any brim on the hat, so the collar fitted right up close around her head."

"But you're sure you saw her face?" "Sure I did. I looked right at it. Why, what's so mysterious about it?"

"Nothing," Millicent told him, smiling, "but I was wondering if you'd be able to recognize a photograph of her."

"If it was a good picture I think I could."

"What color was her hair?" "Black I think, but I can't be sure."

"What color was her hair?" "It was covered up pretty well by the hat. I don't know whether it was black or not."

"I think we'll get a photograph," Millicent told him, "and come back. You can look at that and tell us if it's the same woman."

"I can try, anyway. Come again anytime, ma'am. It's a pleasure to help you any way I can."

Norman Happpi piloted Millicent from the store and, as they crossed the sidewalk, said, "That's the reason I wanted you to talk with him. I could see that he felt for a pretty face and figure, and he was getting a little surly about my questions—acted as

"Bookies" to Face Grand Jury Probe

Telephone and Telegraph Men Called Into Little Rock Case

LITTLE ROCK.—Gambling with bookmakers on horse races throughout the country, reputed to be widespread in Pulaski county, engaged the attention of the Pulaski county grand jury Tuesday.

Questioning of officials of the telephone and telegraph companies indicated the grand jury was seeking to ascertain how the alleged bookmakers operate, where they get their results, what arrangements they have with the communication systems, how "tips" are handled, and similar information.

Communications officials questioned included W. E. Washburn, superintendent for the Western Union Telegraph Company here; L. M. Williams, postal Telegraph-Cable Company superintendent, and Elmer Gosdin, Southwestern Bell Telephone Company division general manager.

Existence of a national service supplying clients with racing news is reported in an Associated Press dispatch from Boston, where the branch of the service was forced to shut up shop by the threat of Gov. James Curley's personal lawyer to take nation against the management and the telephone company.

It is no secret that bookmaking has flourished in Little Rock and North Little Rock since the spring meet at Hot Springs. Funs who followed the races at Hot Springs continued to place bets with the bookies on their favorite horses at other tracks.

Regular clients of the bookmakers are permitted to place bets of $1 and up by telephone, without leaving their offices, and to settle their accounts daily or, in some cases, weekly, according to reports that have reached the grand jury.

Bookmakers pay track odds up to 15 to 1, it is said, and "long shot" bets are paid off at 15 to 1.

Blue skies . . . baby breezes . . . brighter sunshine . . . daffodils in the garden . . . It's springtime—and the beauty-minded woman is anxious to look and feel her best not only for the Easter holidays that are just ahead, but all during the spring. One good way to accomplish this is to take advantage of the sunshine.

Stay out of doors as much as possible. Walk in the parks. If you possibly can, get out your boots and go riding. Skip rope in the backyard. Dig in the garden. Do anything that exercises your muscles and clears your brain. But be sure to keep smiling while you do it.

You don't need to give in to the proverbial attack of spring fever, you know. And there's no excuse for becoming discouraged about life simply because you can't dash off on an excursion or take a walking tour across your favorite mountains. Make the most of what you have right at home and keep your disposition sweet and the corners of your mouth turned up.

Try to think only pleasant thoughts about things you have to do and the people you have to see. Right here is where a lot of kindness will help. Be tolerant of what appears to be faults in others. You seldom know all the sides of any story and it isn't fair to judge a situation about which you know little.

Anyway, if you're good-natured and if you try to keep happy about life in general, you'll find that people seem more interesting and friendly and that little things don't annoy you much anyway.

HOLLYWOOD, Calif. — There is enough marital grief in one branch of the family, according to Helene Costello, motion picture actress, who Sunday denied there has been a break between herself and her Cuban husband, Arturo Del Barrio.

Miss Costello, who recently resumed a career in films which she left when she wed Del Barrio, her third husband, three years ago, said revolutions in the island republic made business success a difficult thing for a young man in Cuba; and added that Del Barrio probably will join her in Hollywood.

Helene is staying with her sister, Dolores Costello, while the latter is attempting to adjust domestic affairs with her own husband, John Barrymore.

Remember, of course, that any perfume is more effective in a subtle sort of way if you put it directly on your skin. Besides, applying it in this manner assures you that there will be no spots on your clothes and no stale smells in your closet.

If you have an atomizer, by all means use it. If not, you might drop a few Easter gift hints to members of your family who, like us, are confused as to what you'd like. Ask for one with some kind of potent top that prevents evaporation and a removable bulb that can be packed separately when you go away for the week-end.

The Grumble Family
There's a family nobody likes to meet. They live, it is said, on Complaining Street. In the city of Never-are-Satisfied. The river of Discontent beside. They growl at that and they growl at this. Whatever comes there's something amiss; And whether their station be high or humble, They are known by the name of Grumble. They growl at the rain, and they growl at the sun. In fact, their growling is never done. And the worst thing is that if anyone stays, Among them too long he will learn their ways. And before he dreams of the terrible jumble. He's adopted into the family of Grumble. So it were wiser to keep our feet From wandering into Complaining Street; And never to growl, whatever we do. Let me be mistaken for Grumblers too.—Selected.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Bader and Mrs. Ollie Bowden left Monday for a visit with their brother, Roy W. Berry and Mrs. Berry in Tulsa, Okla.

George Robison of the State University, Austin, Texas, will arrive Thursday night to spend the Easter holidays with his mother, Mrs. Geo. W. Robison.

One of the most beautiful and sacred "hobbies" that have been discussed by the different leaders selected in the year book for the Bay View Reading club, during the current year, was named by Mrs. W. C. Allison at the regular meeting of the club on Wednesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Fannie Garrett, with Mrs. J. A. Henry as joint hostess. For the occasion, the Garrett home was a garden of spring flowers, with roses predominating, making a most appropriate and pleasing setting for the program on "Home, Friends and Happiness," selected by Mrs. Allison as her favorite theory in life. Following the regular opening of the meeting by the club president, Mrs. Steve Carrigan Jr., a short business session was held, after which the meeting was turned over to the leader, Mrs. W. C. Allison, who in her introductory remarks dedicated this sacred program to the memory of her mother, the late Mrs. Pauline Slack, whom a majority of the members had the pleasure of knowing. This splendid subject, was divided into three parts, Mrs. George Spraggins discussing "Home," Mrs. C. M. Ake the pleasure of "Friends," and acquiring friends closing her paper with a lovely poem on "Friends." Miss Mamie Twitchell closed the program with one of her characteristic papers on "Happiness." The program was unusually interesting, for "Be it ever so homely, home is home," and "He who has a thousand friends has not a friend to spare," and "The rays of happiness, like those of light, are colorless when unbroken." A happy coincidence of the occasion was that it was the birthday anniversary of the hostess, Mrs. Carrigan, and she was presented with a number of lovely remembrances by the members, Mrs. J. A. Henry being the donor. After adjournment the members were invited into the dining room where Mrs. Edwin Ward and Mrs. Steve Carrigan Jr. presided at a lace covered table, centered with a bowl of exquisite red radiance roses, a most tempting buffet luncheon was served. Assisting the hostesses in the dining room were Misses Harriett Story and Frances Snyder. Miss Snyder, granddaughter of the hostess, presented a lovely soprano voice, added to the pleasures of this delightful afternoon by singing, "Mothers' Cradle Song," with Miss Story at the piano.

The regular monthly business and social meeting of the American Legion Auxiliary was held on Tuesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Bill Smith, with the president, Mrs. E. A. Morgan presiding. The regular routine of business was dispatched, and it was announced that the district meeting would be held in DeQueen on Wednesday, April 24, and it is urged that as many members as possible attend this meeting, notifying the president, Mrs. Morgan if you are going. During a short social hour, a delightful ice course was served with cookies.

Vain and Foolish King Turned Away When Refused Sight of Miracles

Another picture of Christ as a prisoner was painted Wednesday night by the Rev. Guy D. Holt in the pro-Easter meeting being conducted at First Christian church.

The subject of the message was Christ before Herod, and Mr. Holt pictured Jesus as He was taken from Pilate's palace into the streets of Jerusalem and hence to the palace of Herod, the vile, cruel, voluptuous, sensual Tetrarch of Galilee.

The minister said: "This man Herod was the son of Herod the Great who was responsible for the slaughter of the infants. He was also the Herod who divorced his wife or rather ran her off and took his brother's wife and lived in adultery with her—it was this woman who planned that Herod should behead John the Baptist, which he did and gave the head to this woman's daughter."

"He had for a long time wanted to see Jesus, and so he was glad when informed that Pilate was sending the Nazarene to him. Herod felt sure that Jesus would consider a privilege to perform before him a great Herod, and so he called together all the members of his court into his great reception room and they waited expectantly for Jesus to be brought in."

"Jesus was brought into this great hall amid laughter and talking with much anticipation of a very interesting show being given for their entertainment, for Herod was a great lover of all that entertained, and was ever on the lookout for some new form."

"Herod opened his court with flattery, saying, 'So thou art Jesus the Nazarene, of whom I have heard so much?' 'Since thou art a Galilean I must see that thou receivest justice.' 'I would not have the perform some miracle for me,' and he gave orders to Jesus that He do many useless things of a miraculous nature."

Years Bring Dash to 'Dot'

Recognize the girl in the top picture? No? Then look at the one below. Yep; they're one and the same—Dorothy Gish, Manhattan stage star. Gone now is the topknot of blond curls and the demureness which won the hearts of movie fans of 15 years ago. The top picture was taken in Dorothy's New York dressing room the other day.

of the ways in which you find pleasures and entertainment?" Thursday night at 7:30 o'clock Mr. Holt will bring a stirring message on "Christ Before the People."

Loretta Young and John Boles Here

"The White Parade" at the Saenger Thursday and Friday

Described as one of the most human and dramatic screen stories of the year, "The White Parade," shows Thursday and Friday at the Saenger. Loretta Young and John Boles play the leading roles in this first of all films to deal with the student nurse—her training days, her heart aches and her happiness in service. To judge from advance accounts, the picture sets a new high for faithfulness to life and for discovering heart throbs, pathos and laughter in the most realistic of material.

Student nurses—the girls nobody knows! These are the subjects of this tender and touching story, a picture of heart throbs, of pathos and laughter, of touching humanity and high resolve—that is what is promised to local audiences when "The White Parade" is revealed here.

Revivalist Likens Church to Samson

Georgia Lewis Declares Churchmen Are Forgetting Sacred Vows

Evangelist Georgia Lewis brought a stirring message to the Tabernacle Wednesday night, using the story of Samson recorded in the 16th Chapter of Judges as her Scripture lesson.

"There are quite a number of similarities between Samson and the church," said Miss Lewis. "Samson was a Nazirite from birth, separated unto God. We are strong only as we keep our vows to God. One of the greatest needs of the church today is souls who are consecrated to the work of the Lord. Many people want to be on the Lord's side and also on the side of the world. That won't work. Sooner or later the world will swallow you up. There is no limit to the power of God in a man or woman who will consecrate to the limit, and will dare to stay consecrated to God."

"Samson's weakness was women. When you are strong take heed lest you fall. The devil will find our weaknesses. This woman, Delilah, robbed Samson of God."

"To a large extent the church of Jesus Christ is a sleep in the lap of the world. Instead of getting the world to line up with the church, the church too often lines up with the world. In Revelation Christ says, 'I would thou wert cold or hot. So then because thou art lukewarm, and neither cold nor hot, I will spew thee out of my mouth.'"

"God doesn't put a church label on us. We put the label on and God looks at the heart. All the machinery of the churches is useless without the power of God. Without it, we may as well close our doors and write 'Jehabod' on the outside."

"Just as Samson wist not that God had come from him, so many today have almost unconsciously let God leak out of their hearts. As Samson was blind, so they are blind to their own condition. They cannot now see sin in things that once seemed sinful. Samson's plight was pitiful. So is that of many today that have lost favor with God."

"Samson renewed his vow and God heard his prayer. As you continue praying you will gain favor with God."

The Baptist Male Quartet will sing Thursday night. A cordial welcome is extended to everyone.

Auto Industry Good Customer of Farm

70 Pounds of Cotton Used in Every Four-Door Ford Sedan

The farmer's job used to be keeping the nation's dinner table supplied. During 1935 he will work to help supply materials for one million Fords.

Ford dealers point out that the Ford Motor Company will purchase many products of the farm and the forest in order to complete its announced intention to build one million cars this year.

Here are some of the things that will have to be purchased:

5,200,000 pounds of wool requiring 62,000 sheep; to produce it will so in upholstery, floor-coverings, lubricants and anti-rust preparations. The production of glues made from hides, glues made from milk, stearic acid, glycerine, soap chips and 1,500,000 square feet of leather for upholstery will utilize 30,000 cattle. 20,000 hogs will supply lard oil for lubricants, oleic acid and bristles for brushes. The goat will yield 350,000 pounds of goat's hair for the mohair upholstery. This means that farms will shear 87,500 goats. Beeswax is not so much used as it was, but tons of beeswax will be used for electrical insulating compounds. 93,000,000 industrious honeybees will produce this beeswax.

Every four-door Ford sedan uses 70 pounds of cotton. A million cars will require over 69,000,000 pounds of

Hollywood Helps Cotton Fete

LITTLE ROCK.—The Celebrities Committee for the 1935 Arkansas Cotton Festival has a Hollywood division. Dick Powell, in the center of the above group, is chairman. Andy Devine, left, who came to the 1934 Festival as King of the Cotton Parade; Lucille Brown, guest of honor at the 1932 Festival; Janet Chandler, another Arkansas contribution to moviedom, also a guest of honor at the 1932 celebration; and Lupton Wilkinson, representative of Motion Pictures Producers of America, Inc., are working with in arranging for a celebrity from the movie capital to visit the 1935 Festival. Eris Linden, who came to the 1933 Festival as King Cotton, also is a member of the committee but was engaged on a set when the picture was made. Dick himself had just left a set and is shown in costume for his picture, "Broadway Gondolier."

The 1935 Festival, which is Arkansas' method of observing National Cotton Week, is set for three big days, May 9, 10 and 11. The cotton ball will open the festivities Thursday evening, May 9. Two divisions will be presented this year, one in the Hotel Marion Ballroom, Little Rock, and the other in the Elks Hall, North Little Rock. At noon of the 10th the Cotton Parade will move, the most ambitious spectacle ever presented to Arkansas parade fans. It will consist of twelve units, each representative of an epoch in the development of the cotton industry, beginning with the use of cotton in India as early as 800 B. C.

A Cotton Pageant, "History of Cotton in Arkansas," will be presented at Kavanagh Field, the evening of May 10 and 11. Approximately 1,000 persons will appear in the cast and a negro choir of 10,000 voices will furnish the musical background.

Added to these attractions, the Travelers met Knoxville at Travelers Field the afternoons of May 9, 10, 11 and 12. It will be a gala week in Arkansas' capital.

Woman Convicted on British Island

Is First to Be Sentenced to Die—Only King Can Save Her

LONDON, Eng.—For the first time in history, the little island of Guernsey, where medieval French law still rules though the island belongs to the English crown, convicted a woman of murder, and sentenced her to death Tuesday.

It is now up to King George of England, as the Duke of Normandy, and thus the owner of the island off the French coast, to decide whether the sentence shall be carried out, for the only appeal is made directly to the king. The Privy Council, sitting in London, will advise the king.

"I tell the lot of a single man to decide whether the woman, Mrs. Gertrude de la Haze, 27, should die for murdering her employer, Alfred Brown, 76, to inherit his estate."

When called on by one of six of the 11 jurors, or judges, decided she was not insane when she slashed Edward's throat as he lay asleep. Five thought she was insane, which was the defense plea and which would have saved her life.

Not until the tenth jurat was asked for his opinion was it certain that Mrs. de la Haze would die. There was intense excitement in the tiny court when eight jurors had voted, and were

Roosevelt Bonus Measure Drafted

Billion Less Than Patman's, 1/2 Billion More Than Present Law

WASHINGTON (AP).—A brand new method of compensating the cash bonus issue estimated to cost 1 billion 300 million dollars and designed to meet administration requirements was introduced Wednesday by Chairman Harrison of the senate finance committee.

The bill would advance the maturity date of adjusted compensation certificates from 1915 to 1938 and offer in exchange for them negotiable bonds readily convertible into cash.

Compromise Bill

WASHINGTON (AP).—Chairman Harrison of the senate finance committee Tuesday completed the drafting of a $1,300,000,000 compromise bonus bill he will introduce Wednesday as administration legislation.

Warning was sounded at the White House that President Roosevelt was not permitted to any specific measure, but his leaders on Capitol Hill were confident he would approve the bill to be offered by Harrison.

The Mississippians agreed that President Roosevelt had not seen the bill. In senate circles, it was said that President Roosevelt did not want to be put in the position of accepting the bill ahead of time, but that if it or anything like it were sent to him by congress he would sign it.

The White House said that Mr. Roosevelt would speak when and if the bonus bill was sent to him. There was some doubt whether the president would send a message to congress on the subject as was suggested last week.

While he completed the draft Tuesday, Harrison continued to guard its details pending formal introduction. He disclosed, however, that the bill was estimated to cost $1,300,000,000 which he said was $1,000,000,000 less than the Patman bill passed by the house, but $200,000,000 more than the present law.

Under the Harrison proposal, the maturity date of the certificates would be advanced from 1915 to 1938.

It was understood the bill did not propose to offer cash on the present value of the certificates but to propose an exchange under which certificates could, if they wished, obtain negotiable bonds which would be readily convertible into cash.

evenly divided. The ninth voted that she was not insane, and the tenth, on whom her life depended, concurred. The eleventh, whose vote now was only a matter of form, voted to accept the plea of insanity.

Normally there should have been 12 jurors, but one was excused from duty on personal grounds. Seven form a quorum.

Peck to Be Denied Driver's License

Punch-Drunk Ex-Fighter Ran Down and Killed 2 Persons

LITTLE ROCK.—A driver's license will be denied Joe (Kid) Peck, wrestling referee and former boxer, who was indicted Tuesday by the Pulaski county grand jury for failure to stop after an accident February 17, in which M. B. Sanders and Mrs. Ruth Matthews were killed.

Earl R. Wiseman, commissioner of revenues said he planned to withhold a state driver's license from Peck on the ground he is not qualified to drive.

Defense testimony in Peck's recent trial for second degree murder in the death of Mrs. Matthews was to the effect that the former pugilist is "punch-drunk" and unable to co-ordinate mind and muscles. Peck, himself, denied this condition.

Commissioner Wiseman explained he is not certain of the power delegated to him under the driver's license law enacted by the recent legislature but said, nevertheless, he had instructed his license staff to refer Peck's application, if one is received, to his desk for personal attention. He will withhold the license at least until the attorney general rules on his authority in the matter.

If Peck is unable to obtain a license he will be barred from operating an automobile in Arkansas after May 1.

The new indictment was returned against Peck at the request of Prosecuting Attorney Fred A. Donham. The charge of failure to stop after an accident is a felony under Arkansas statutes, punishable by a sentence of not more than five years in the penitentiary.

Patman to Fight Bonus Compromise

Inflation Leader Asserts Lower House Will Stand by Him

WASHINGTON (AP)—Cash bonus advocates Wednesday gave the compromise proposal drafted by Senator Harrison, Democrat, Mississippi, a hostile reception.

Harrison, who said he thought his bill would be satisfactory to President Roosevelt, introduced his measure Wednesday. It would provide for redemption of the service certificates in negotiable bonds and would date the interest-bearing period of the certificates back to Armistice Day instead of 1925.

The bonds which the veterans would receive would bear 3 per cent interest and Harrison said this would make them readily negotiable. He estimated his proposal would cost $1,300,000,000 or $1,500,000,000 less than the cost of the Patman bill.

"I don't believe it will be satisfactory to the veterans at all," Patman said. He predicted that the house would stand by his bill.

The technical language of the bill arouses some speculation as to its practical effects. Lawyers and veterans' spokesmen split the day studying the legal phraseology without agreeing on all of its meaning.

Experts who aided in drafting the measure said that the bill would make it possible for a veteran with a certificate which would mature under the present law at $1,000 in 1945 either to obtain negotiable bonds for which he could get $770 cash, or hold his certificate for 10 years and get $1,115.

Under Harrison's proposal, if veterans did not desire to turn their certificates over to the government and receive bonds, they could hold them, and at maturity date obtain interest at 4 per cent compounded annually from Armistice Day, 1918, or they could continue to operate under the old law.

Would Cancel Bonus

The Harrison bill would move the issuance date of the certificates up from 1925 to Armistice Day, 1918, but the maturity date would not move up to the same extent, because the 22-year bond would be added to the certificates in 1925 to make up for the deferred payment would be cancelled.

Experts said that consequently the certificates would reach their maturity value, not in 20 years or in 1938 as was originally believed, but about 1942. Or they would continue to pile up interest until 1945, if the veterans preferred to hold them that long.

In an effort to head off future demands for a general World War pension law which some members of congress have predicted would follow payment of the bonus, the bill would state as a declaration of policy that there should be no pension legislation.

Hearings on the compromise bill have been called by Harrison for Monday or Tuesday of next week.

Industrial commission.

Part-Time Problem Arises
"The number of such part-time workers' permits has been very great and this has entailed a large amount of work which would be unnecessary but for this peculiar provision of the Wisconsin law."

"It would seem vastly preferable to include the part-time workers within scope of the act, but to base their compensation when unemployed not on the wages of full-time workers, but on their own earnings as part-time workers."

In these respects and some others the Wisconsin law will doubtless be amended. Amendments will probably be offered by the advisory committee which has co-operated with the industrial commission in administration of this act.

This committee, composed of an equal number of representatives of employers and employees, has proved one of the most helpful features of the Wisconsin set-up and should clearly be copied in other states enacting such a law.

What Law Provides

Experiences of European countries were swept aside in formulating this new measure, and the law provides:

1. All contributions shall be made by the employer at the rate of 2 per cent of the weekly payroll.
2. A maximum reserve of $75 a worker may be set up. Employers cannot waive this aid, but can contribute to the fund if they so desire.
3. For not more than 10 weeks in any year, benefits may be paid to unemployed.
4. Benefits shall not be more than half of the employee's regular wage and shall not exceed $10 a week. Persons earning more than $1500 a year are not affected, nor are employers of fewer than 10 employees. Farmers and seasonal employees are exempted from the law.

Ten years of agitation culminated in the writing of this statute. Professor Commons began the fight. Biennially at each session of the legislature, a bill was introduced, but defeated.

La Follette Aids Move
Then came the depression. A legislative investigating committee was appointed. Gov. Philip La Follette took a deep interest. He recommended the findings of the legislative committee to the legislature.

With slight modifications, these find-to all persons over 55 or to those over 21 mentally or physically incapable of self-support.

Against all of these will be the administration's bill, which provides that the federal government may contribute up to $15 a month, on a dollar-for-dollar matching basis to any state pension paid to persons over 65.

Survey Made
A careful check by the Democratic whip brought reports that the Townsend-McCarty amendment, which will be offered by Representative Monaghan, Democrat, Montana, would get only 53 to 55 out of the 432 house votes.

The leaders said, however, that the Greenway plan—drafted by Representative Isabella Greenway, Democrat, Arizona, close friend of the Roosevelt—was a great threat.

As these forecasts were made, Republicans were called into a conference for a discussion of their attitude toward the administration's bill. Some Republican leaders indicated a desire to follow the Republican members of the ways and means committee and vote against the taxes which the bill would levy.

In the closing debate Representative Reed, Republican, New York, contended the administration's bill "raises grave constitutional questions."

Stags Penalized at Kansas Dance

"Dates" Only Means Girls Have of Going to University Hop

LAWRENCE, Kan.—(AP)—The University of Kansas, awaiting its "Trial of a Century," is in a bit of a stir over the "law student with the union suit."

Opponents have hung the term on Joseph Sutton, a junior in law, who likes to attend dances alone—in other words, to "stag" them—and "put in" on disgruntled rivals with "dates."

The "union suit" is a legal action taken by Sutton, who seeks $330 from managers of the Union Memorial Building. These each week-end student feet glide and stomp at all-university dances. Sutton contends the managers have no right to fine stags 10 cents a piece by way of trying to limit them, on the theory that a man who brings a co-ed should have a chance to dance with her—at least now and then.

The ten-cent levy will stick if the football captain, Orlando Nesmith of Belleville, Kan., has anything to do with it.

"Girls have no way of attending dances unless they are invited by men, and dating should be encouraged," he said today.

Julia Jencks of Topeka, Kansas, vice president of the Women's Self-Governing Association, was diplomatic.

"All women like to have plenty of stags," she confessed "but—"

At the trial April 15, in which the university also is named defendant, Sutton plans to argue his own case.

"The student activity ticket is my admission to the dance," he explained. "It doesn't say anything about a ten-cent fine if I go alone."

"I tried to get a committee to do something about it and was thrown out. It was a star-chamber procedure. As I understand it 52 out of every activity ticket goes to the upkeep of the Memorial Union Building, which means around $7,000 or $8,000 a year. But when 200 stags have to pay $20 a week, that means

"Lawyer Plague" Stirs Arkadelphia

Lenient Juries, Big Verdicts Cause Influx of Damage Actions

ARKADELPHIA, Ark.—Alarmed over the harm threatened to Arkadelphia by the reputation of Clark county juries for giving big awards in suits for damages, the board of governors of the chamber of commerce has appointed a committee to investigate the situation.

Members of the board declared that Clark county has become a "lawyer's paradise." Lawyers from Little Rock and other cities, taking advantage of an old state law that enables them to sue a corporation in any county in which it owns property, have transferred cases to the Clark county circuit court, where they and their clients are not so well known and their prospects for getting big damages are much better than they would be at home. This has resulted in piling heavy court expenses on the taxpayers.

"That is the charge upon which he is seeking $5. In addition, he wants back thirty cents paid for 'stagnating' it at three dances.

The same sentence was given to Charles Mucci, whom Mrs. Hey did love, and to Edward Price, whose fee for disposing of Mr. Hey was set at $25 but who only got $15 because Mr. Hey survived.

Despite the rough treatment he received, Mr. Hey would be living with Mrs. Hey again in six months, if only bluegrass farms of Middle and East Tennessee have suffered. "Once many breeding establishments were found in the state, he continued.

He estimated that the bill would yield $3,000,000 to $1,500,000 of annual revenue, "to be used for the livestock and agricultural interest of the state."

Only Representative Little, author of the impeachment resolution, voted in favor of it. Little had charged that the governor and other unnamed persons had withheld an audit made by state auditors last November.

Here Bill Advances
NASHVILLE, Tenn.—(AP)—Tennessee's senate Wednesday passed a bill to legalize horse racing, with pari-mutuel betting, in the state that banned the sport 28 years ago. The vote was 17-to-11. House approval is necessary before Monday, when the legislature is due to adjourn, to complete enactment.

(Through error The Star yesterday reported the senate had beaten the racing bill.)

Sponsors of the measure told of horse racing flourishing in Tennessee from pre-Civil war days until 1907. Senator Russell Wright said that Andrew Jackson once raced a horse against a horse of Wright's great grandfather.

Since racing was outlawed, Wright told the senate, "the great plantations of West Tennessee and the beautiful

Wife Who Hired Assassin to Push Husband Off Cliff Sentenced

HASKENSACK, N. J.—Mrs. Lucille G. Hey, who didn't love her husband, but couldn't bear to hurt him by telling him so and therefore had him shoved over the edge of a cliff, Wednesday was sentenced to from three and a half to 10 years in jail.

The same sentence was given to Charles Mucci, whom Mrs. Hey did love, and to Edward Price, whose fee for disposing of Mr. Hey was set at $25 but who only got $15 because Mr. Hey survived.

Despite the rough treatment he received, Mr. Hey would be living with Mrs. Hey again in six months, if only bluegrass farms of Middle and East Tennessee have suffered. "Once many breeding establishments were found in the state, he continued.

He estimated that the bill would yield $3,000,000 to $1,500,000 of annual revenue, "to be used for the livestock and agricultural interest of the state."

Only Representative Little, author of the impeachment resolution, voted in favor of it. Little had charged that the governor and other unnamed persons had withheld an audit made by state auditors last November.

Here Bill Advances
NASHVILLE, Tenn.—(AP)—Tennessee's senate Wednesday passed a bill to legalize horse racing, with pari-mutuel betting, in the state that banned the sport 28 years ago. The vote was 17-to-11. House approval is necessary before Monday, when the legislature is due to adjourn, to complete enactment.

(Through error The Star yesterday reported the senate had beaten the racing bill.)

Sponsors of the measure told of horse racing flourishing in Tennessee from pre-Civil war days until 1907. Senator Russell Wright said that Andrew Jackson once raced a horse against a horse of Wright's great grandfather.

Since racing was outlawed, Wright told the senate, "the great plantations of West Tennessee and the beautiful

MOTHER ADVISED TAKING CARDUI

"I had a severe pain in my side and felt nervous all the time," writes Mrs. Floyd Ferrell of Thompsonville, N. C. "At times, I felt so weak and had a dull, sleepy feeling, not enough to do my work. I had been advised by my mother to take Cardui as she had obtained good results from using it. I took three bottles of Cardui. It increased my appetite, built my strength up, helped my nerves and the pain in my side." There are many similar cases. Thousands of women testify Cardui benefited them. If it does not benefit YOU, consult a physician.

Happy Motoring!

No Wonder They Keep Coming Back

You see the same faces at Esso dealers and stations time and time again. For, once motorists start trading at the Esso sign, they have a way of repeatedly coming back.

As soon as they begin using Aerotype Esso or Essolene they can't help noticing how much longer it is between fillings... how much more life and power their cars seem to have than with other fuels they've tried. And with Essolene in the crankcase... they find that their motors achieve a new high for smooth, trouble-free operation.

They're also quick to appreciate the attention and service they get. It's gratifying to start out with a clean windshield and bright lamps... a well-filled radiator... and properly inflated tires. And the attendants at Esso dealers and stations see to it that you always do.

Start stopping at the Esso sign for fuel and oil... as well as tires, batteries and accessories... and notice how quickly you, too, form the habit... a habit it certainly pays to cultivate if you want to enjoy "Happy Motoring."

ESSO MARKETERS

RECOMMENDED FOR Happy Motoring! Aerotype ESSO—endorsed by over 1,500,000 users as the outstanding premium fuel... ESSOLENE—guarantees smoother performance than any other regular-price gasoline... ESSOLUBE—the premium quality oil at regular price... ATLAS tires, batteries and accessories—guaranteed by the world's leading petroleum organization. Free road maps and touring information... clean rest rooms... courteous attention... efficient service.

O FOR THE LIFE OF A QUINTUPLET!

CLOTHES

Emelle and Marie, Yvonne, Annette and Cecile greet the day with assurance, all dressed up in the morning's fresh clothes.

PLAY

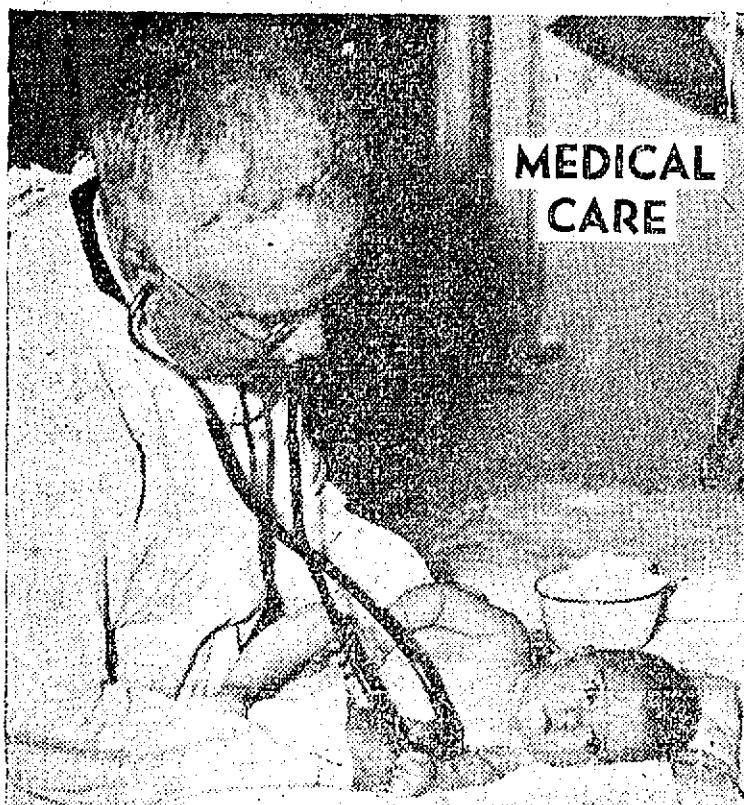

Having fun is the real work of quintuplets at 10 months. Here are Annette and Yvonne busily scrambling for a tin trumpet.

FOOD

MEDICAL CARE

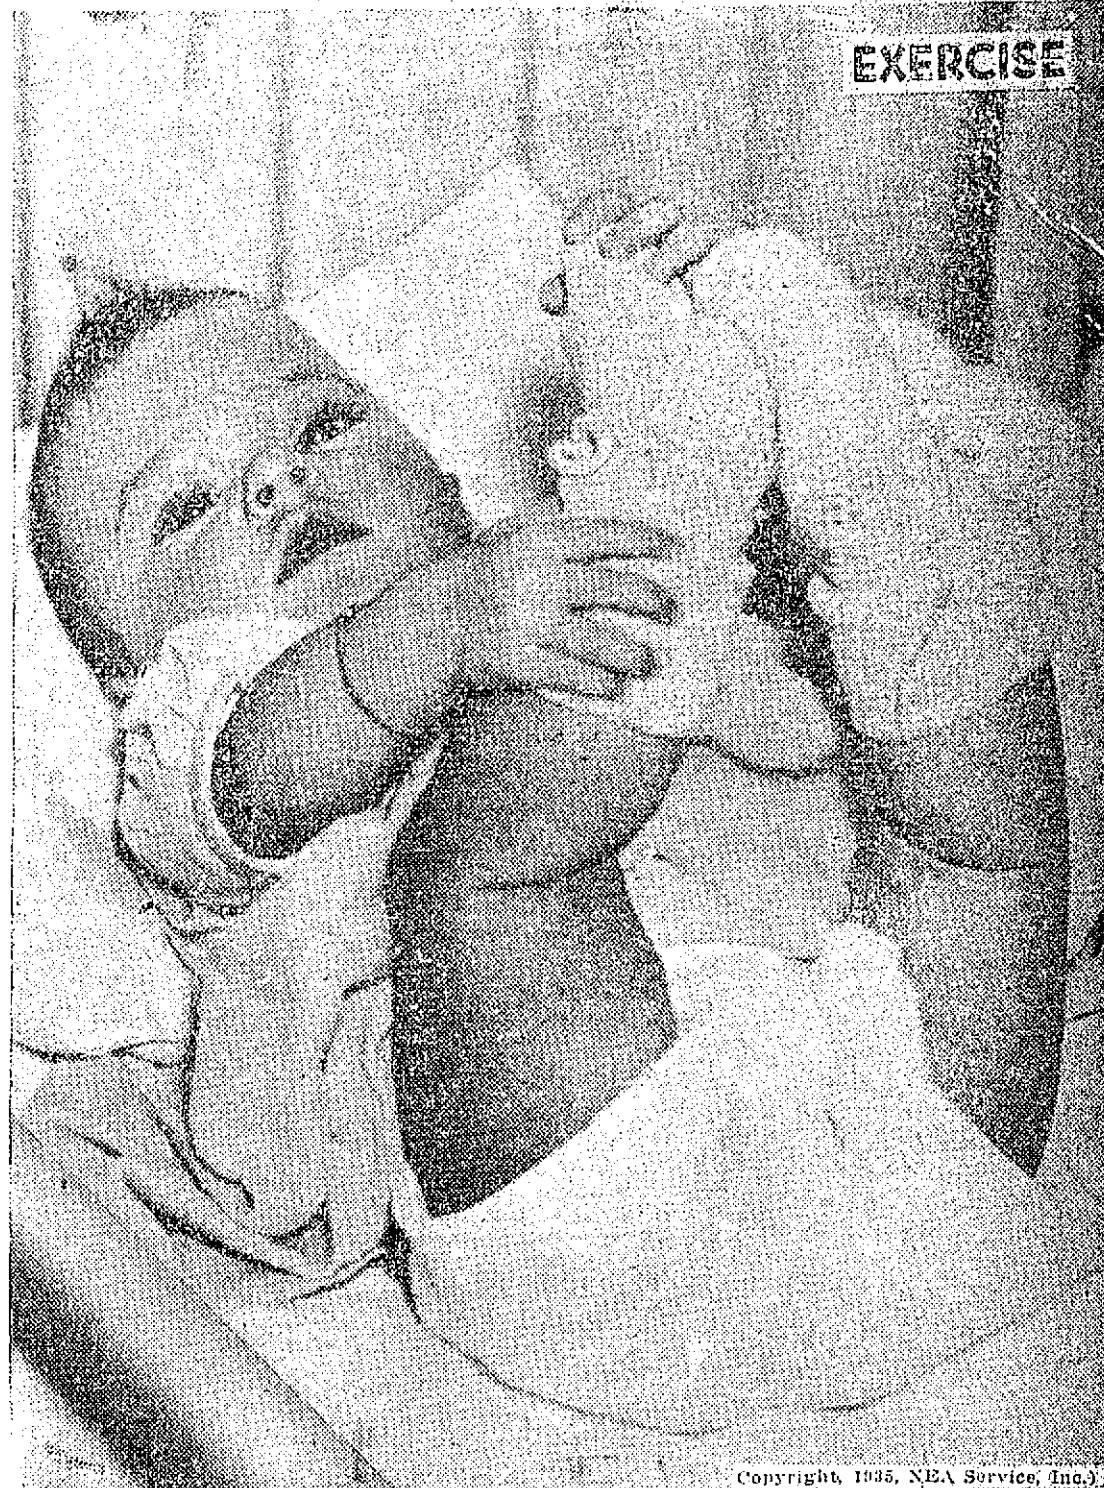

Guarding health carefully, Dr. Dufoe listens to Marie's heartbeats.

BATH

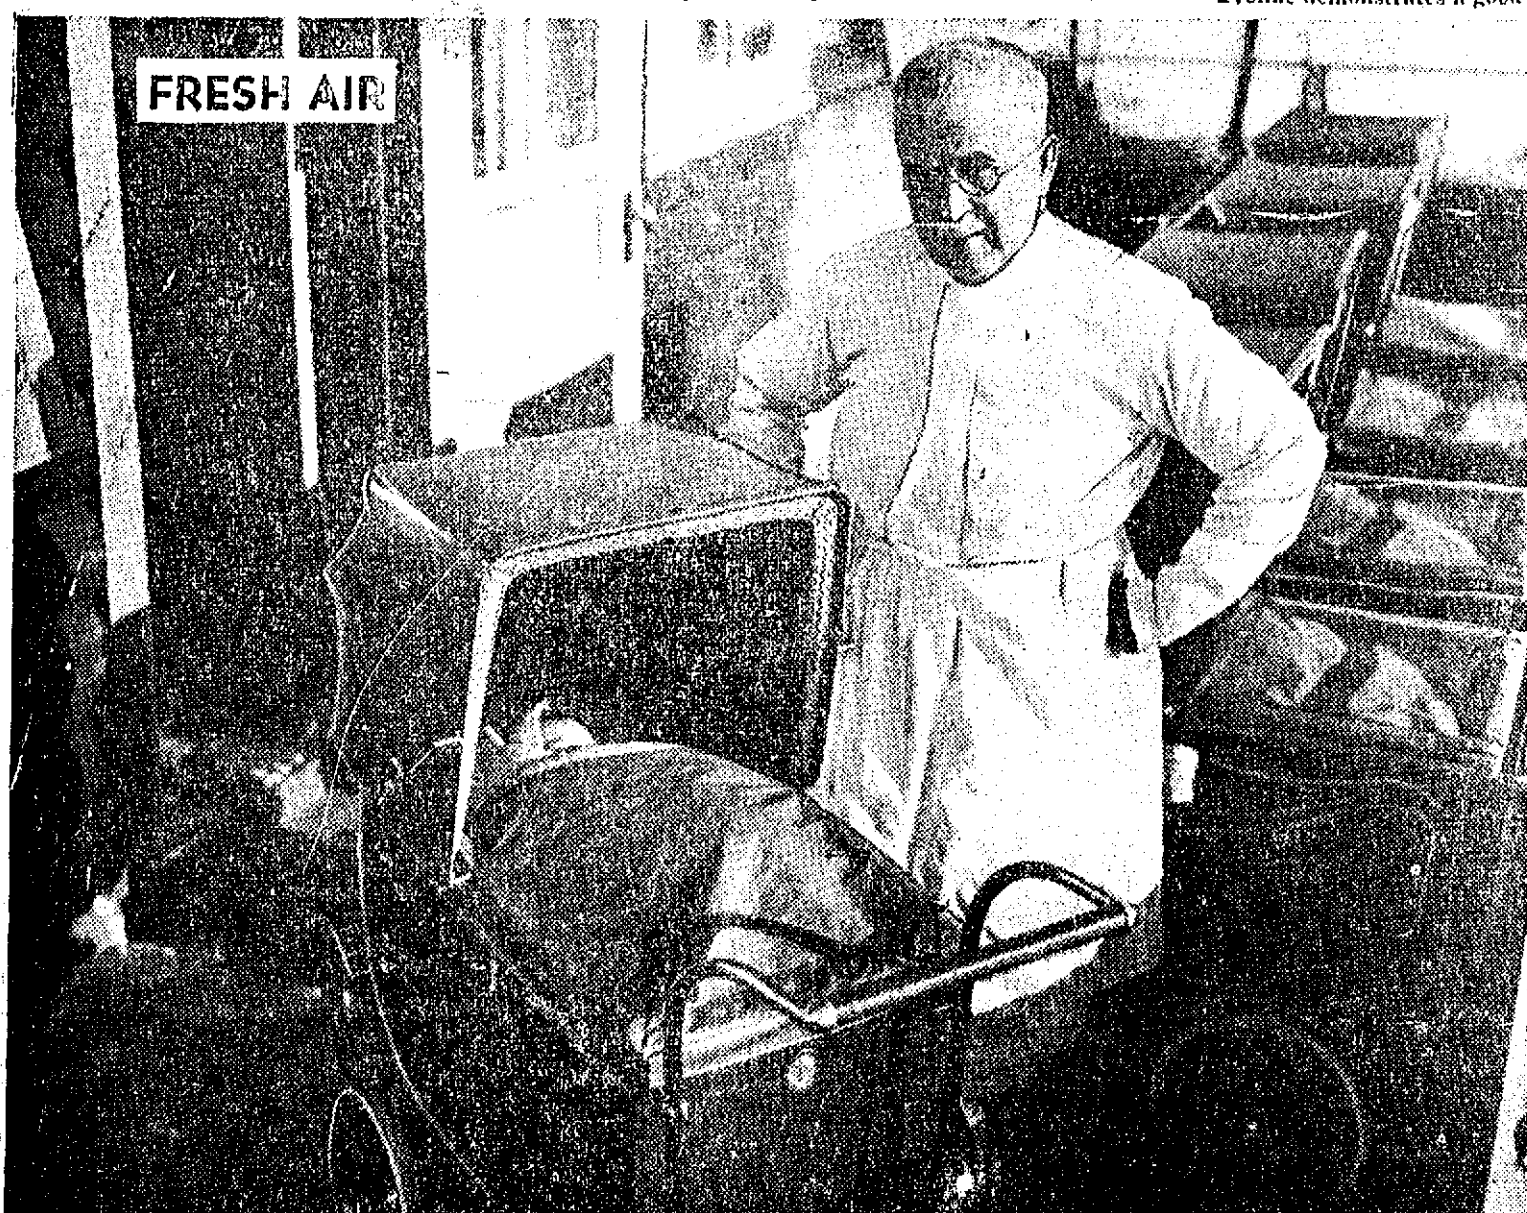

Yvonne demonstrates a good splash in the warm water of the tub.

EXERCISE

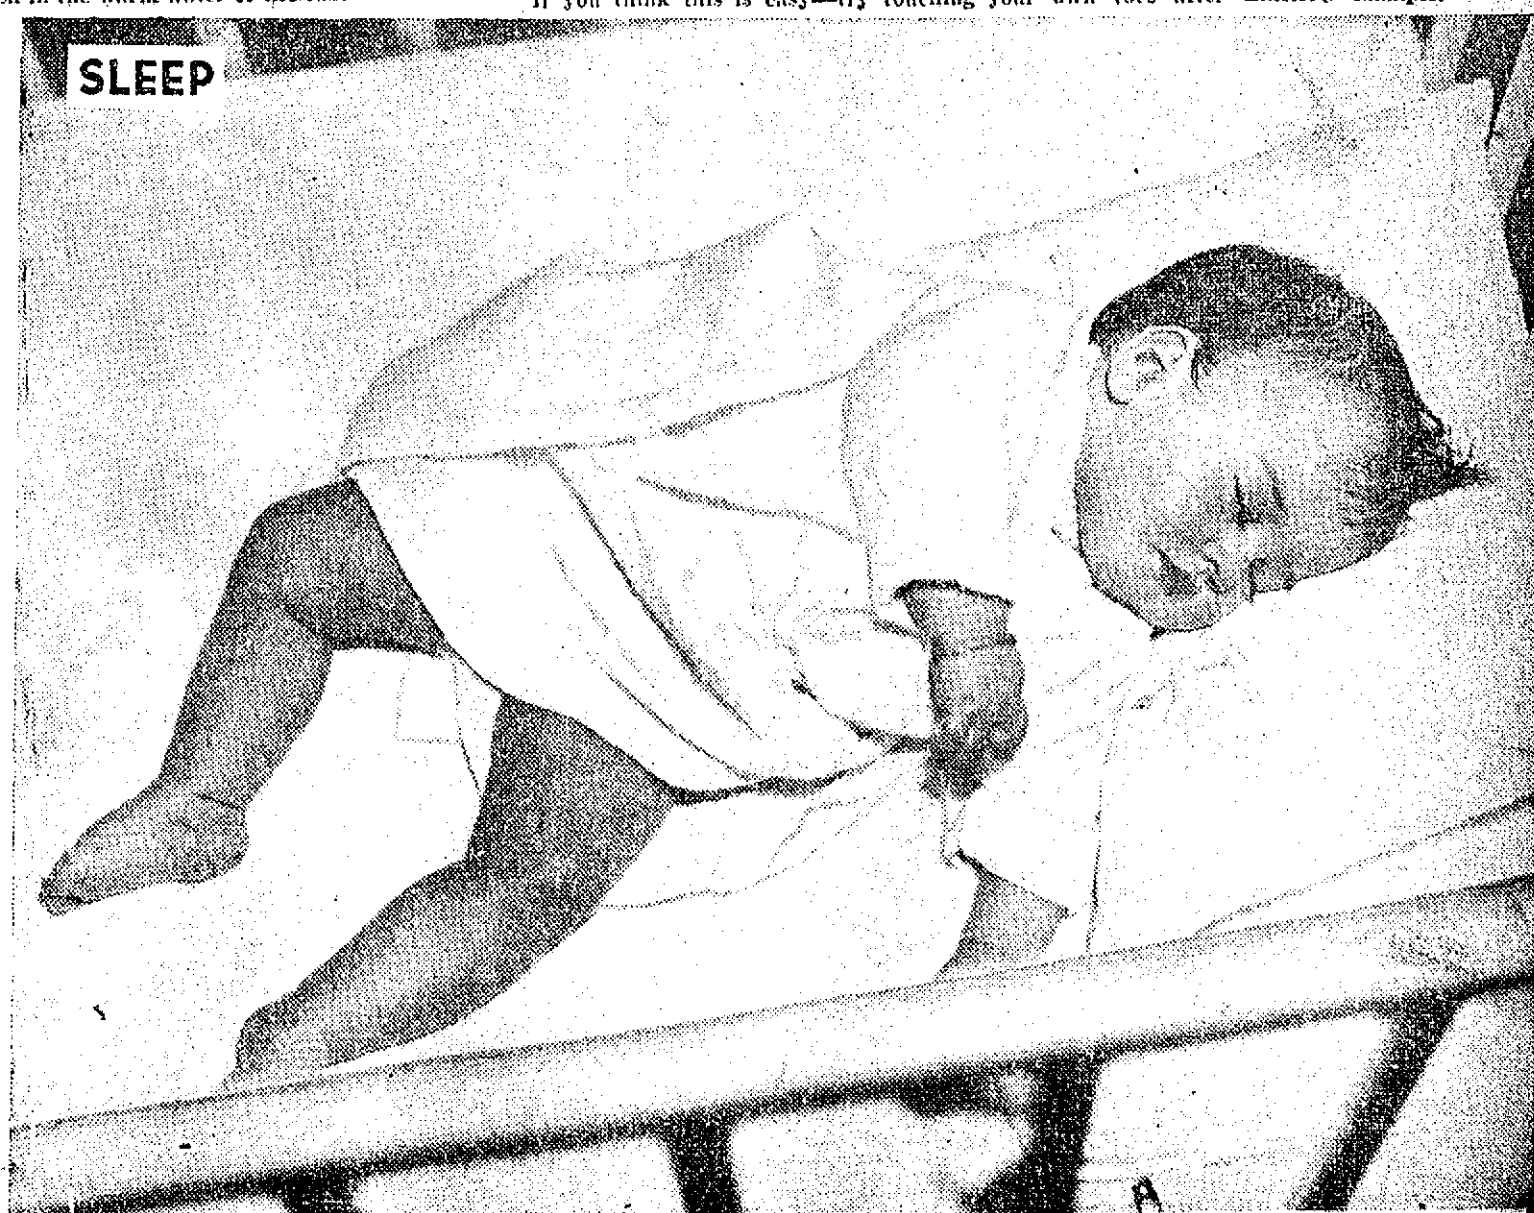

If you think this is easy—try touching your own toes after Emelle's example.

FRESH AIR

Everybody needs lots of outdoors, and the "quins" get it. Dr. Dufoe supervises Emelle's daily visits in the sunshine.

SLEEP

After a hard day like this, you're so-o-o-o tired! But if you lived the simple life, you'd sleep as Yvonne's sleeping in this picture.

Tennessee Town Smashed by Blast

7 Hurt, 75 Homeless as 250 Kegs of Powder Are Exploded

HELENWOOD, Tenn.—(AP)—Seven persons were injured, approximately 75 made homeless and 30 homes and buildings destroyed or damaged when 250 kegs of blasting powder and 30 cases of dynamite exploded Tuesday in the center of Helenwood, a small village near the Kentucky-Tennessee line. The explosives, stored in a small mine supply house, were set off by a burning residence nearby. Saving the danger, J. O. O'Connell, railroad agent, his wife, and R. H. Cecil, merchant, spread the alarm, firing pistols and shouting for the 250 residents of the town to flee. "The town is a total wreck," Mrs. O'Connell, the railway agent's wife said. "There are at least 15 families who can't enter their homes tonight. All the other homes are damaged." The explosion shook the town of Oneida, six miles away. A traveling salesman on the highway four miles from Helenwood reported that his car was lifted several inches by the blast. Homecoming for County Unlikely

Annual Event at Washington May Not Be Held This Year

Due to the fact that the attendance the last two years at the 11th and 12th annual Homecomings respectively, by former Washington people who have moved away, was less than on any of the previous years, it is problematical this year just whether the 13th annual event will be held, or not. The Homecoming celebrations have been held each year on Mother's Day Sunday for the past 12 years without exception. Until 1933 the affairs were well attended by out of town people who annually came back for a renewal of acquaintances and a glimpse again of childhood recollections. In 1933 and 1934 the number attending fell off, due, perhaps, to a number of reasons. Anyway, the number attending failed to justify the time and expense the people of Washington incurred in preparing for the day. It has not yet been definitely decided that the affair will not be held, but the attitude of most local folks is that, unless there is some request from ex-citizens that it be continued, and some outward manifestation of their interest, there will be no 13th annual Homecoming on Mother's Day Sunday, May 12, this year. There are a number of ex-citizens who are readers of this paper. If they want Homecoming to be continued they should write an edit some others to write either to the paper or someone they are acquainted with here. Their letters will be brought to the attention of local people and if there is enough response Washington people will make plans for Homecoming next month. Unless, however, there is sufficient response, there will be no Homecoming. That puts it up to the visitors as to whether they want a Homecoming this year and hereafter, or not. Trucks bought by the United States army must pass severe tests by army inspectors before acceptance.

The STORY of EASTER

On the road to Calvary with two thieves who likewise faced death that first Good Friday, Jesus, weary, sank under the burden of His Cross. The soldiers compelled Simon, a Cyrenian, to assist Him, fearing He would die before the journey's end. At Calvary, Jesus and the thieves were nailed to their crosses. The multitude remained, gazing on, many mocking Him, though in His agony, Jesus' words breathed love and compassion for those around Him. Fearful phenomena accompanied our Lord's death a few hours later. The Veil of the Temple was rent asunder; the earth quaked; rocks crumbled, and graves were opened. The Roman centurion exclaimed, "This is The Son of God," and the multitude departed, "striking their breasts." Later, to make sure the crucified were dead before sunset, as required by Jewish law, the legs of the thieves were broken and the Lord's side was pierced with a spear.

Washington Will Graduate 5 Seniors

Dr. Matt L. Ellis to Make Commencement Address May 3

Graduation exercises for Washington High School will be held in the school auditorium on Friday night, May 3, and the address of the evening will be delivered by Dr. Matt L. Ellis, professor of philosophy at Henderson State Teachers College, Arkadelphia. On the preceding Sunday, April 28, Dr. J. C. Williams pastor of the local Presbyterian church will deliver the baccalaureate sermon to the members of the graduation class from his pulpit. There are five members in this year's graduating class as follows: Misses Mary Pilkinton, Georgia Ballard, Myrtle Bearden, and Willie Williams and Carl Martin. Last Friday was senior day at the high school and the members of the class visited Henderson State Teachers College, Arkadelphia, where senior day was also in progress. There are only two remaining weeks of the current school year after this week, with school formally closing on Friday, May 3.

Ochs Leaves N. Y. Times to Family

Newspaper Passes to His Nephew, Daughter and Son-in-Law

NEW YORK.—(AP)—The will of Adolph S. Ochs, made public Tuesday night, leaves control of the New York Times to three relatives and directs that the publisher's residuary estate be divided between his widow and daughter. The controlling interest in the newspaper passes to Julius Ochs Sulzberger, nephew; Mrs. Iphigene Ochs Sulzberger, daughter, and Arthur Hays Sulzberger, son-in-law. After making numerous outright bequests to universities, relatives, employees and others, mostly of stock in the New York Times Company, Mr. Ochs directed that the income from the rest of his estate be divided between Mrs. Sulzberger, his daughter, and Mrs. Effie Wise Ochs, his widow. Mr. Ochs died at his home in New York City on Monday, April 14. Mr. and Mrs. Joe Daugherty and family, and Mr. and Mrs. Ray McWilliams and baby, all called on their parents, Mr. and Mrs. George McMillen Sunday. Word was received recently by friends at this place that Mrs. George Karber formerly of Harmony was seriously ill with tuberculosis. Her many friends hope for her a speedy recovery.

Harmony

Farmers are beginning to plant cotton at this place. Mr. and Mrs. Harold Sanford and children were Sunday visitors of Mr. and Mrs. Bishop Rhodes and family. Mrs. Mabel Yarberry has returned to her Blevins home after teaching a successful term at Harmony. Mrs. Yarberry will also teach at Harmony this fall. She will be greatly missed by her many friends of this community. Herman McMillen was the dinner guest of his sister, Mrs. Ray McWilliams and Mr. McWilliams Sunday. Mr. and Mrs. Thad Vines and children and Mr. and Mrs. Milton Rogers spent Saturday night at the home of Tom Vines and family in Nevada county. Mr. and Mrs. Luther Ellis and little son, Gifford, spent Sunday visiting relatives near Liberty Hill. Vernon and DeVaughn McMillen spent Saturday night visiting their grandfather, Todd, and family at Liberty Hill. Mr. and Mrs. Joe Daugherty and family, and Mr. and Mrs. Ray McWilliams and baby, all called on their parents, Mr. and Mrs. George McMillen Sunday. Word was received recently by friends at this place that Mrs. George Karber formerly of Harmony was seriously ill with tuberculosis. Her many friends hope for her a speedy recovery.
